Appendix 1 Illustration of the Impact to the Loan/ Financing Facility

Arising from loan repayment assistance, interest will continue to be accrued during the moratorium period (not compounded), but since the principal outstanding would not reduce, Borrower will end up paying more interest by deferring.

By default, for Term Loans and Housing Loans, after the moratorium period, the monthly installment amount would increase following the interest capitalization to the principal at the end of moratorium period but tenure shall remain unchanged.

A Simple Illustration

Example:

Customer has a Term Loan / Housing Loan outstanding of RM100,000 as at 1st July 2021, carrying installment of RM1,061 per month at interest rate of 5% p.a. for the remaining 10 years (120 months).

Impact of the moratorium:

- a) Customer do not need to pay the installment from 1st July 2021 to 31st Dec 2021 (6 months).*
- b) However, the deferred Interest portion during this period totaling RM2,520.55 (RM100,000 x 5% x 184 / 365 days) would be capitalized into the outstanding loan after the moratorium period ie. 1st Jan 2022.*
- c) On 1st Jan 2022, the total loan outstanding would be RM102,520.55 and the instalment amount will be revised to RM1,132.00 (114 months remaining) this being the default treatment by the Bank and Borrower shall receive a Letter of Notification on the revision of installment amount.*

If the Borrower is not agreeable to the above revision of installment amount, he/she may approach the Relationship Manager/ Branch Officer on other available option, for example to extend the maturity date with the existing instalment amount, subject to approval.
