Investment involves risks, including the loss of principle. Past performance is not indicative of future results. Before investing in the ChinaAMC CSI 300 Index ETF (the "Fund"), investor should refer to the Fund's prospectus for details, including the risk factors. You should not make investment decision based on the information on this material alone. Please note:

- The Fund aims to provide investment result that, before fees and expenses, closely corresponds to the performance of the CSI 300 Index (the "Index"). The Fund invests in the PRC's securities market through the RQFII investment quota granted to the Manager and the Stock Connect.
- The Fund is subject to concentration risk as a result of tracking the performance of a single geographical region (the PRC) and may likely be more volatile than a broad-based fund.
- The Fund is subject to risks relating to the RQFII regime, such as default in execution or settlement of transaction by a PRC broker or the PRC Custodian, change of RQFII policy and rules and uncertainty to their implementation, repatriation restrictions and insufficient RQFII quota to the Fund.
- The Fund is subject to risks associated with the Stock Connect, such as change of relevant rules and regulations, quota limitations, suspension of the Stock Connect programme. In the event that the Fund's ability to invest in A-Shares through the Stock Connect on a timely basis is adversely affected, the Manager can only rely on RQFII investments to achieve the Fund's investment objective.
- Investing in emerging markets, such as the PRC, involves a greater risk such as greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks.
- If there is a suspension of the inter-counter transfer of units between the HKD counter and the RMB counter, the unitholders will only be able to trade their units in the relevant counter on the SEHK. The market price on the SEHK of units traded in HKD and of units traded in RMB may deviate significantly due to different factors, such as market liquidity, supply and demand in each counter and the exchange rate between the RMB and HKD (in both the onshore and the offshore markets). As such investors may pay more or receive less when buying units traded in HKD on the SEHK than in respect of units traded in RMB and vice versa. Investors without RMB accounts may buy and sell HKD traded units only. Such investors should note that distributions are made in RMB only and they may suffer a foreign exchange loss and incur foreign exchange associated fees and charges to receive their dividend. Not all brokers and CCASS participants may be familiar with and able to buy units in one counter and to sell units in the other or to carry out inter-counter transfers of units or to trade both counters at the same time. This may inhibit or delay an investor dealing in both HKD traded units and RMB traded units and may mean the investor can only trade in one currency.
- As the SSE and the SZSE may be open when units in the Fund are not priced, the value of the securities in Fund's portfolio may change on days when investors will not be able to purchase or sell the Fund's units. Differences in trading hours between the SSE and the SZSE, and the SEHK and A-Shares' trading bands may increase the level of premium/discount of the unit price to its NAV.
- The Fund is denominated in RMB. RMB is currently not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. A non-RMB based investors in units are exposed to foreign exchange risk. There is no guarantee that the value of RMB against the investors' base currencies (for example HKD) will not depreciate.
- The Fund is not "actively managed" and therefore, when there is a decline in the Index, the Fund will also decrease in value. The Manager will not take defensive position in declining markets. Investors may lose a significant part or all of their respective investments if the Index falls.
- Generally, retail investors can only buy or sell units of the Fund on the SEHK. The trading price of the units on the SEHK is driven by market factors such as the demand and supply of the units. Therefore, the units may trade at a substantial premium or discount to the Fund's NAV.
