If you want to apply for IPO loan at the same time, please click "Subscribe and Apply for Loan" ; ② "Me > IPO Application" page in the "ICBC Smart Invest" APP to view IPOs which accept electronic Application. If you would like to apply IPO financing services, please click "IPO Financing Application".

2. Before Application, please read the "Online Prospectus", including the provisions, prospectus and declaration form of third party referral to ensure you are qualified for applying the IPO according to the requirements listed in the prospectus.

3. Input IPO Application and loan details

Please select One-stop price (if applicable) to apply IPO financing with fixed quantity and interest. You can select to input Application quantity and loan amount / ratio alternatively.

You can click "Calculate Charges" and system will display the interest amount, interest rate, debit amount (deposit) and loan amount according to the selected Application quantity and loan ratio.

4. Application cannot be cancelled or modified after submission.

5. Please ensure that sufficient balance is maintained at the Settlement Account for the debit amount (deposit). Otherwise, the Bank has discretion to reject your Application.

6. Subject to approval of the Bank, the IPO financing is considered on a first-come-first-served basis. Successful submission of your IPO loan Application should in no way be interpreted as a sign your Application has been approved by the Bank.

Shares Allotment and Repayment

1. Share allotment and repayment will be deposited to your account on Allotment Date. The Bank will notify you the allotment result via SMS/e-mail.

2. If the refund amount is not sufficient to settle the loan amount, the Bank will debit the outstanding amount from your Settlement Account.

3. The loan and interest will be repayable on demand and in the absence of a demand, within 5 business days after the Bank has notified you the subscription result.

4. If any part of the loan or interest thereon is not paid when due, the Bank may without notice sell any or all of the securities allotted to you and use the sale proceeds after deducting all reasonable expenses to pay any amounts owing by you, in the order the Bank reasonably select. You will charge to the Bank all rights arising from your Application and all securities allotted to you as continuing security for the payment of all amounts owing by you to us. You will within the time required by the Bank do all things which the Bank reasonably require to perfect our security interests.

6. What is One-Stop Price?

A: One-Stop Price is the loan interests for Application quantity as defined by the Bank. The default loan amount is 90% of the Application amount. You have to deposit 10% of the Application amount and the service charge of the Bank. It is subject to decision of the Bank for every IPO to provide the One-Stop Price.

7. How to calculate the interest payment for the loan?

A: Interest Payment = Application Amount x Loan Tenor/365 Days x Interest Rate. Loan Tenor is from date of advance up to full repayment. Interest rate on financing will be subject to current market environment and varies among securities

8. Is there any maximum financing limit applicable?

A: Yes. The Bank maintains a maximum financing limit for each IPO (if applicable) apply via online, while there is overall limit for applying several IPOs concurrently. The Bank considers IPO financing Application on first-come-first serve basis. On the other hand, you have to make sure the account has sufficient fund as security deposit, otherwise the Bank shall have sole discretion to reject your Application.

9. Is there any minimum requirement for the loan amount?

A: Yes. The Bank has minimum loan amount for each IPO (if applicable), please read the details in the Application page.

10. When I apply IPO financing via electronic channels, the system rejects and displays "Sorry, the maximum financing limit is exceeded. This transaction has not been processed", can I still apply this IPO?

A: You can change the loan ratio or apply without financing services. Besides, you can apply the IPO financing services via the branch or trading hotline, but there is a maximum loan amount for the Application. Please be aware no matter which Application channels, you can apply the same IPO once only. Duplicated and suspected to be duplicated Applications will not be considered and may be rejected.

Glossary:

- Withdrawal Cash: Cash customers can withdraw from registered HKD Settlement Account.
- Investable amount: The amount that customers can use for Hong Kong stock trading (denominated in HKD).
- Total Margin Value: The total margin amount of the customer's position.
- Loan Limit: Maximum margin limit of customer's margin account.
- Account balance: Margin account balance (A positive number is the customer fund which customer have not used the margin amount. A negative number is the margin amount has been used.)
- Interest payable: The interest that the customer should pay.

- Interest receivable: The interest that the customer should receive.
- Net account balance: Net margin account balance (the balance after interest payable and receivable).
- Available amount/Margin Call: A positive number indicates the margin balance that the client can use, and a negative number indicates that the client has exceeded the margin amount that can be used (which means the margin ratio exceeds 100%).

② Position

You can go to position page via click "Me > Portfolio value or Trade > Position", and check the situation of position, including portfolio value, portfolio gain / loss etc.

10. How to view marginable stocks list?

A: You can go to ICBC (Asia) website and click "Investment > Securities Services > Securities Margin Account > stocks for margin credit" / "Markets > Marginable stock" in "ICBC Smart Invest" APP to view marginable stock list.

11. Under what circumstances will customers face concentration risk monitoring?

A: When the customer margin loan limit equals to or exceeds HK$ 20 million, the Bank will monitor the concentration risk of the customer. The customer's maximum loan limit for a single stock will be deducted to a certain extent based on the stock's margin ratio in ICBC (Asia).

12. How is the concentration ratio calculated?

A: The calculation of the concentration ratio is based on the margin ratio of the stock. To check the stock margin ratio, please visit ICBC (Asia) website.

13. What is the impact of concentration risk monitoring on the customer's loan limit? Has the customer's loan limit on the entire investment portfolio changed?

A: Concentration risk monitoring imposes restrictions on the maximum loan limit that customers can purchase for each stock.

Example: Assume that the margin credit ratio of stock A is 60% and the concentration ratio of stock A is 70%.

If the securities margin loan limit of Mr. Chan's is HK$ 20 million, the stock A currently has a margin value of HK$ 30 million. Under the monitoring of concentration risk, the maximum loan limit of stock A will be HK$ 14 million (margin loan limit HK$ 20 million x concentration ratio 70%).

In this case, after comparing the margin value of stock A with the adjusted loan limit, maximum loan limit of Mr. Chan for stock A is limited to HK$ 14 million.

After deducting the margin limit of HK$ 14 million for stock A, Mr. Chan can still use the remaining amount of HK$ 6 million to purchase other stocks. Therefore, in terms of the entire investment portfolio, Mr. Chan's margin limit has not been reduced due to the concentration risk monitoring, and he can still use the full amount of limit.

14. Does the concentration ratio change only based on the Margin Credit Ratio?

A: No, the type of customer account also affects the concentration ratio. The stock concentration ratios of General Banking and Private Banking customers are different. Even for the same stock, the concentration ratio will vary according to the type of customer account. For details, please refer to following tables.

General Banking customer

Share Margin Credit Ratio	Concentration ratio
60%	70%
50%	65%
40%	60%
30%	55%
20%	50%

Private Banking customer

Share Margin Credit Ratio	Concentration ratio
70%	80%
60%	75%
50%	70%
40%	65%
30%	60%

A: Pre-opening Session: From 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

- Only POS securities will be processed. For details, please refer to HKEX website.
- Only "At-auction Limit Order" will be placed to the market for matching.
- If you have placed your At-auction Limit Order, you are advised to check your order between 9:00 a.m. to Order Matching whether it has been successfully accepted; if not, you may re-input your order before Order Matching. If your At-auction Limit Order price deviates 1.15 times or more from the market price, or is 0.85 times or less of that price, your order might be rejected by HKEX. Every order cannot involve more than 3,000 lots of shares.
- At-auction Limit Order(s) cannot be modified or cancelled after 9:15 a.m.
- After order matching in the Pre-opening Session, unfilled At-auction Limit Order will be converted to Limit Order and carried forward into the Continuous Trading Session after 9:30 a.m. on the same day.

Order Input Period: From 9:00 a.m. to 09:15 a.m.

- Input, Amend or Cancel Instructions are allowed.
- Input of new At-auction limit order with price inside the price limit (within $\pm 15\%$ from previous closing price) will be submitted to the market. (NOT applicable to pre-defined scenarios: In the absence of the Previous Closing, IPO stocks and stock resuming, etc. For details, please refer to HKEX website.)

No cancellation Period: From 9:15 a.m. to 9:20 a.m.

- Amend or Cancel instructions are not allowed.
- Buy / Sell orders with price aligned with HKEX's requirement are allowed to input.

Random Matching Period: From 9:20 a.m. to 9:22 a.m.

- Amend / Cancel instructions are not allowed.
- Buy / Sell orders with price aligned with HKEX's requirement are allowed to input. - Order Matching will perform randomly within 2 minutes.

Continuous Trading Session: From 9:30a.m. to 4:00p.m.

- "Enhanced Limit Order" will be placed to market for execution.
- "Enhanced Limit Order" will allow matching up to ten price queues at a time. Unfilled quantity after matching will be stored in the system as a normal limit order at the input order price.
- "Enhanced Limit Order" may not be successfully accepted by "HKEX" if the order price is better than the tenth price queue.

Closing Auction Session: From 4:00 p.m. to 4:10 p.m.

- "At-auction Limit Order" will be processed CAS Securities only.

- At-auction limit orders within the $\pm 5\%$ price limit can be entered on CAS securities. Outstanding orders can also be amended or cancelled during this period.

No Cancellation Period: From 4:06 p.m. to 4:08 p.m.

- At-auction limit orders can be entered. The prices of new At-auction limit orders must be between the lowest ask & highest bid recorded at the end of Order Input Period (means 16:06), and no orders can be amended or cancelled.

Random Closing Period: From 4:08 p.m. to 4:10 p.m.

- The order rules from the No Cancellation period apply and the market closes randomly within two minutes.

2. What is a "At-auction Limit Order" and "Enhanced Limit Order"?

A: "At-auction Limit Order" is a limit order with a specified price which should not deviate 1.15 times or more from the market price, or is 0.85 times or less of that price. After order matching in the pre-opening session, unfilled At-auction limit orders will be converted to limit orders at the input price and carried forward to the continuous trading session.

"Enhanced Limit Order" is similar to a limit order. An Investor should give clear instructions about the highest price or lowest price he is willing to pay or dispose. It will allow matching of up to ten price queues at the same time. The input order price of an Enhanced Limit Order can be matched up to nine spreads better than the best price on the other side of the market. Any unfilled quantity of an Enhanced Limit Order after matching will be converted into a Limit Order at the input order price. ICBC (Asia) accepts order price within 200 spreads of the market price. The Enhanced Limit Order will be passed to the HKEX for processing once it falls within the 15 spread range of the market prices. Any subsequent amended order price that deviate more than 24 spreads of the market price might be rejected by HKEX.

3. What are the differences between placing order via Electronic Channels and Manned Phone Channel?

	Electronic Channels	Manned Phone Channel
Enhanced Limit Order	System accepts order price within 200 spreads of the market price. The Enhanced Limit Order will be passed to the HKEX for processing once it falls within the 15 spread range of the market prices.	System will not monitor the order price. If the order price you place deviates more than 24 spreads of the market price, your order might be rejected
Order Input Period	Can Input anytime (24 hours available) Input New Order during trading period will be effective on the same trading day, after trading session, you can input order for next trading day.	Can place order from 8:45 a.m. to 4:10 p.m. on trading day.
Sell Odd-Lot	Yes	Yes

Note: At-auction Limit order has the same processing logics for all channels. If your At-auction Limit Order price deviates 1.15 times or more from the market price, or is 0.85 times or less of that price, your order might be rejected by HKEX (except Closing Auction Session).

4.5 RMB Denominated Stock Services

1. What are the precautions for trading RMB denominated stocks via electronic channels?

A: Please be aware that you must fulfill the following criteria before trading RMB denominated stock.

- You have applied the Securities Account
- You have applied RMB account and registered it as the Securities Settlement Account (Only applicable to Hong Kong Identity Card holders).
- Personal Customer: You can register the RMB Account via "ICBC Smart Invest" APP or Personal Internet Banking.
- If you do not have any RMB account, please open it via Personal Internet Banking, Mobile Banking or visit any branch.
- Joint Name or Company Customers: Please visit any branch to apply RMB account and register the RMB Settlement Account.

2. Can I apply Consolidated Investment Account (securities) and / or RMB account via Internet Banking?

A: Yes, kindly note that Application for account opening via Internet Banking is only available to sole name personal account holder. For joint name and company customers, they have to visit any of our branches to make Application. Furthermore, please note that RMB savings and current accounts are only available to Hong Kong Identity Card holders.

3. Can I exchange RMB via electronic channels? Any limit for transaction amount and service hour?

You can go to "Deposit > Funds Transfer and Currency Trading" to exchange the currency or setup post-dated transaction. ICBC (Asia) accept instruction for currency trading for 24 hours. If you place the instruction within Monday 8:00 a.m. to Saturday 1:00 p.m. (except Dec 25 and Jan 1), ICBC (Asia) will process your instruction immediately. If you place the instruction beyond the above time period, the instruction could only be executed on next business day.

4. Can I select HKD account for trading RMB denominated stock? Or select RMB account for trading HKD denominated stock?

A: No. The securities and Settlement Account must have the same currency denomination, please ensure your relevant account has sufficient balance. Moreover, the account balance, pending settlement amount and investable amount for the HKD and RMB Settlement Accounts are calculated separately.

5. Is there any difference between trading securities in HKD and RMB via electronic channels?

A: The trading hours and service functionality are basically the same between securities in HKD and RMB. However, RMB denominated securities transaction will be settled in RMB (including but not limited to, subscription/share price, brokerage commission, stamp duty, Securities and Future Commission ("SFC") levy, SEHK trading fee, and other fees and charges). For any fees and charges that involve exchange of RMB against HKD, it will be calculated based on the exchange rate published by the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited ("SEHK") on the same trading day.

6. How to calculate stamp duty for non-HKD listed products?

A: The stamp duty rate is 0.13% of the transaction amount for securities. For stamp duty purposes, if the transaction amount is in a currency other than HKD, it should be converted into HKD by using the exchange rate determined by the HKEX.

For example,

Purchase of 10,000 XYZ shares at RMB 12.52 on T day, exchange rate: 1.176 for T day. Step 1:

Transaction Amount in HK$ equivalent: $10,000 \times \text{RMB}12.52 \times 1.176 = \text{HK$ } 147,235.20$ Step 2: Stamp duty in HK$:

$\text{HK$ } 147,235.20 \times 0.13\% = \text{HK$ } 192$ (round up to the nearest dollar)

The exchange rates for each trading day are available on the HKEX website by 11:00 am or earlier on that day. You can visit the HKEX website for details.

7. What are the risks for trading RMB denominated securities?

A:

- Investment involves risk - the prices of the securities may move up or down and may become valueless. It is as likely that losses will be incurred rather than profit made as a result of buying and selling securities.
- Investors should carefully consider all of the information in the offering documents including the risks and uncertainties prior to making an investment in the RMB denominated securities.
- RMB is not freely convertible. Conversion between RMB and foreign currencies (including Hong Kong dollar) is subject to PRC regulatory restrictions which may affect the liquidity of the RMB denominated securities.

- As RMB denominated securities are new types of product, there may not be regular trading or an active market. Therefore you may not be able to sell your investment on a timely basis, or you may have to sell the product at a deep discount to its value.
- Exchange rate risk - the Hong Kong dollar value of your investment will go down if the RMB depreciates against the Hong Kong dollar.

8. Does the Bank provide margin service for trading RMB denominated securities?

A: No

4.6 IPO

1. What is IPO?

A: IPO stands for Initial Public Offering. It is the first time a company issues securities to investors. The newly issued securities will be listed on a stock exchange.

2. What are the risks associated with IPOs?

A: • Over-subscription of an IPO: In some cases, IPO may be oversubscribed. The company may go via an allocation process to determine whether an investor will receive any securities and the quantity. In view of potential not receiving the full amount of securities in case of over-subscription, an investor may be tempted to subscribe for more quantity than he intends to. The investor will receive all the quantity applied for and incur the full cost, if the IPO is not oversubscribed.

- Market risk: There is a risk that the company's share price will drop below its initial IPO price, once the company's securities commence trading (on the stock market or otherwise). Securities prices will fluctuate over time.
- Business risk: Before you apply for IPO shares, you should understand the nature of business you are investing in. Thoroughly study the offering documents, prospectus, financial reports and even seek professional advice before making any decision to invest. Customers can apply for IPO shares and other securities online by accessing ICBC (Asia) website to read the offering documents, then fill in the IPO Application form and settle the payment online.
