Security [delete if no security or guarantee is being taken]

This Loan is secured credit. By signing this Loan Agreement, you and/or each owner of the relevant property set out below agree(s) to grant us security over the relevant property to us (each such property being referred to in this Loan Agreement as a "Secured Property").

Mortgage

Consumer goods (being goods that are used or acquired for use primarily for personal, domestic or household purposes) subject to security interest must be specifically identified by item. It is not sufficient to merely describe the goods by kind. In addition, ICBCNZ is prohibited under section 83ZN of the CCCFA to take security over certain 'essential' consumer goods, unless the relevant security is a purchase money security interest.]

Asset	Owner	Description of Security

Amount secured by each Security:

Each mortgage and each other security set out above secures the total amount of money you owe to us under your Loan (including principal, interest, fees and costs) and other loans or facilities you get from us from time to time (including existing loans and facilities).

We will continue to hold any security we have until you have repaid all amounts owing to us.

Security Condition:

Except where we have previously given our written consent to you or as required by law, we require each Secured Property to have clear title and to be free from mortgages, charges and all other encumbrances other than the security provided to us. While the Secured Property is granted to us as security, you must obtain our agreement in writing before you can grant to another party a charge over the Secured Property.

What could happen if there is a breach of the Security Condition:

If, in breach of the Security Condition, any other security, mortgage, charge or encumbrance exists over a Secured Property, then we may require you to repay any money you owe us earlier than the originally scheduled payment date or on demand and we may cancel the Loan (or any undrawn portion of your Loan).

We may also repossess and sell the Secured Property. If we sell any Secured Property and the amount we recover is less than the amount you owe us, then you will still be responsible for paying the amount of any shortfall to us.

What happens if you fail to comply with the terms of your Loan Documents:

If you do not pay any amount owing to us when it falls due or do not comply with any other terms of your Loan Documents, then we may require you to repay your Loan earlier than the originally scheduled payment date or on demand and we may cancel the Loan (or any undrawn portion of your Loan) and we may repossess and sell the Secured Property.

If we sell any Secured Property and the amount we recover is less than the amount you owe us, then you will still be responsible for paying the amount of any shortfall to us.

Method of charging interest

Interest is calculated at the end of each day by applying the daily interest rate (which is the relevant Interest Rate (including any low equity margin, if applicable) divided by 365) to the daily balance outstanding of your Loan (or each Portion of your Loan, as the case may be). Interest will be charged from the day you first borrow money under your Loan (or each Portion of your Loan, as the case may be) until fully repaid.

Interest will be debited from your Specified Account on the relevant Payment Dates. However, when you repay your Loan in full, interest will be charged up to but excluding the day that the payment is credited to your Specified Account.

If you have an Offset Portion, any credit balances in your Specified Account will be taken into account for interest calculation purposes, and the amount of interest you will be charged on the Offset Portion will be calculated on the Portion by reference to the difference between that Portion and the credit balances in your Specified Account, and accordingly the amount of such interest charges will be less than the amount which would have been charged if you had not had an Offset Portion.

If the credit balance in your Specified Account is greater than the principal amount owing on your Offset Portion on any day, then no interest will accrue on your Offset Portion for that day. You may still be entitled to credit interest in respect of the credit balance of your Specified Account, but only where, and to the extent that, the total credit balance of your Specified Account exceeds the total balance of the Offset Portion of your Home Loan.

If the credit balance in your Specified Account is less than the principal amount owing on your Offset Portion on any day, no interest will be paid on any credit balance in your Specified Account.

Other Charges

Please refer to the enclosed Fees and Charges Brochure for the fees and charges payable under or in connection with your Loan. In addition to those fees, if we incur any costs (which have a specific meaning – see clause 2.1 of the Home Loan General Terms and Conditions) in administering your Loan, then you must pay us the amount of those costs. If we know that we may incur any significant costs in relation to your Loan, we will use our reasonable endeavours to consult you before we incur such costs (unless incurrence of such costs is beyond our control).

Please note that all fee(s) and charge(s) may change from time to time.

Default interest and Fees

If you fail to pay any amount when it falls due under your Loan, we may charge you additional interest at the Default Rate (which is your current rate of interest plus 5% per annum) on the overdue amount calculated daily (by applying the Default Rate divided by 365) from the date the amount was due until the date it is fully repaid. This additional interest is deducted from your Specified Account or any other account you hold with us at such intervals as we determine. We may also add any default interest that is due but unpaid to the principal amount of any portion of your Loan.

A default notice fee as stipulated in our Fees and Charges Brochure may also apply.

The default interest is in addition to any default fees specified under the heading 'Fees' or referred to under the heading 'Other Charges' above, which is payable by you to us in the event of a breach of this Loan Agreement or on enforcement of this Loan Agreement.

Early repayment

If you repay all or any portion of the unpaid balance of your Loan before it is due, then you may be required to pay an Early Repayment Charge to us to compensate us for any loss that we may suffer on the early repayment – please see clause 13 of the Home Loan General Terms and Conditions for more details. The amount you have to pay to compensate us for the loss is calculated using the formula prescribed in regulation 8 or 11 of the Credit Contracts and Consumer Finance Regulations 2004.

You may also have to pay us an early repayment administration fee relating to the early repayment. Please refer to our Fees and Charges Brochure for details.
